
ACADEMIA & FAITH

Symposium

Saturday, May 10, 2014, 1:00PM - 5:00PM

St. Vladimir Orthodox Church in Ann Arbor, 9900 Jackson Rd. Dexter, MI

Keynote Speaker: Rev. Andrei Kuraev

Cleric, theologian, missionary, professor, writer, blogger

- ✓ Senior Researcher, Moscow State University, Philosophy
- ✓ Professor, St. Tikhon Orthodox Institute for Humanities
- ✓ Professor, Moscow Theological Academy (1997-2013)

Panel Discussion: Faith and the Academic

An engaging round-table discussion led by Rev. Dr. Gregory Joyce, Rector of St. Vladimir Church in Ann Arbor, administrative specialist in U of M Cardiovascular Center, Associate Dean of the Pastoral School of the Diocese of Chicago & Mid-America.

other panelists:

Milisa Manojlovich, Assoc. Prof. , U of M School of Nursing, and Director of the American Association of Critical-Care Nurses Certification;

Roman Vershynin, Professor, U of M Department of Mathematics;

Vasiliy Krivtsov, Sr. Staff Technical Specialist at Ford Motor Company, previously Adj. Prof. of Statistics, University of Maryland.

Vadym Pyrozhenko, Asst. Prof. of Public Administration, U of M – Dearborn;

Nathan Longan, Council on International Educational Exchange, Director of St. Petersburg Office, previously Assoc. Prof. Of Slavic Studies, Oakland University.

Yulia Paramonova, doctoral student, U of M Department of Economics;

Alexander Rusakov, postdoctoral Research Fellow, U of M Department of Chemistry.

Question/answer period to follow. Appetizers will be served .

Sponsored by: www.stvladimiraami.org

www.societyromanos.org

SOCIETY OF SAINT ROMANOS
FORMING A VISION OF ORTHODOX CULTURE